SPECIAL PROGRAMS

JANUARY 2016

* Intensive one week course

Experience design at a place where ideas come to life.

The Altos de Chavón School of Design is an educational center with worldwide impact, a pioneer in the teaching of art and design in the Dominican Republic. Founded in 1983 with the aim of satisfying the country's growing commercial and industrial demands, The School offers programs of study, of both long and short duration, in the areas of communication design, fashion design, fine arts, illustration, digital design, interior design, photography, film production, and architecture.

Drawing
17 al 22 de Enero, 2016

The workshop explores the components that make up drawing as an expressive medium; line, perspective and movement are the main elements of an artistic composition with visual exercises to represent ideas in a two dimensional surface. The investigation of the human figure (anatomical drawing) is performed with live models. The surrounding environment is a strong element focused on the ability to execute and understand the human figure by drawing.

Instructor:
MELANIE REIM

American educator and illustrator based in New York City. Melanie is known for her dynamic and clever drawings and illustrations that combine her ability to draw the figure in action and document their physical environment and the cultural elements to visually tell a story. Her illustration work has been included in books, magazines, corporate presentations, commercials and museums.

Melanie’s illustrations have appeared in leading magazines in the United States and internationally, among which we can highlight Newsweek and Time magazines. She has been an instructor, for more than a decade, at the Fashion Institute of Technology-FIT in New York City, in the area of illustration and computer animation. Currently she holds the position of Director of the Masters in illustration. Melanie graduated from Buffalo State College and has a Masters in Illustration from Syracuse University. She is a Fellow of the Society of Illustrators in NYC.
